

sites & sights to see

It's showtime - LIVE events from the net

Relationships are everything...and here is the proof

Loves me...loves me not - SensualSource to the rescue

He makes so much, she makes so much - how much?

The buzz from New York's own Silicon Alley

Financial advice - maybe a Nobel prize winner can help

All noise - all the time. Irreverance at its best, by Entropy

How about snowboarding in the Alps this winter?

Information warfare - are you the next target?

new authors to introduce

A task, made easy by the fact that we have no choice, but to mention every and each of our authors in this inaugural issue:

- * Mrs. Susan Kaszas of "A Mother's Shoah" in book, downloadable and e-book as well as CD-ROM formats,
- * Mark Winston of the Decide 123! (tm) PC program, and
- * Yours truly, Steven Kingsley.

Look for a slew of introductions here, as the roster of authors (you included, we trust) expands next year.

works to mention

A literary work and two PC software programs, published and distributed by us, top our current list:

- * A Mother's Shoah, chronicling the life and survival of Mrs. Susan Kaszas during the Holocaust in 1944-45,
- * Knowledge Science, a PC hypertext program for the creation and management of knowledge, and
- * Decide 123! (tm), a very easy and inexpensive cost/benefit decision support program for PC-s.

Don't forget - we'd like to see your work cited here too!

our (mercifully) short editorial

"What you see is what you get" is no longer enough. In reality, it has never been more than a terrific tool for design and display. Today, it is just part of what we can and will deliver to you - new content, created and distributed in an immersive, connected environment by our authors and clients like you, as well as ourselves.

So, "What you see, hear and link to" is what you get from us here and on our site. Enjoy and don't worry about the abbreviation. We haven't been able to pronounce it and you won't have to, either.

Welcome to our first issue.

announcements to make

About your newsletter:

We know you have a "few" other chores and pursuits to handle. Accordingly, this multimedia edition or the e-mail version will be delivered to you only four times a year: in March, June, September and December.

About Y2K (Year 2000) free on-line help:

Just in case you still need support, it is available through our Y2K Ready Symbols and Assistance page ...

and fun to finish with (for now!)

..... by playing the movie trailer for: BEAN

in QT QuickTime® video format on a computer near you. Download the player, or its latest version free from Apple here, if it isn't on it yet. Use the best technology today.

questions, comments or suggestions?
send them all, to our editor@newmediapublishing.com hear it

play it

go to our site