events to highlight

We've truly accomplished a lot. Here is some of it:

- * NewMedia Publishing was awarded a major contract by the Theodore Roosevelt Association, together with New York State and the National Park Service. Read more about it in the following section.
- * We further expanded our distribution network, by partnering with CyberRead, HyperDrive and Software-Market.com.
- * After our standard 6 month testing period, we signed agreements with SealedMedia and ION Systems, to use their secure content delivery and sales solutions.

T.Roosevelt Centennial CD-ROM

We won our largest single publishing contract to date, to develop and produce the Theodore Roosevelt Centennial Gubernatorial CD-ROM for the T. Roosevelt Association and New York State, along with the National Park Service. This multimedia eBook CD, which contains rare historic books and original Edison recordings, will be distributed to all schools, libraries and academic institutions in New York State, and sold all over the world.

There will be a press release from the Centennial Commission at the end of November. We will, subsequently, send out our own news release to all media and Internet news sites. Stay tuned!

editorial flash

To fully gauge the depth and swiftness of changes in information based industries, consider the music industry. The contents of practically every music CD ever published have been posted as MP3 files on the Internet by music fans for free downloading. The industry is fighting back, but that doesn't change the fact that every Tower Records store in the world today is a bank where the doors to the vault have been left unlocked.

On the software front, digital downloads caused Egghead, a 250 unit chain of retail stores to abandon its brick and mortar outlets and move its entire business to the web. This same phenomenon is now driving the adoption of "e-books, e-documents and e-records". Reports from Cambridge, Mass. based Forrester Research are no longer printed - they are purchased and downloaded as Adobe Acrobat files. Your medical test records are uploaded by your physician through a web service, hosted by WebMD.

Yes, your works are available worldwide through us. Rest assured, though - we use the most secure digital rights management and distribution networks on the Net. We've learned our lesson. Let the games begin.
